VERY PROMPT AND FAITHFUL SERVICE.

MARSHFIELD.

Mrs. Dwell Baker is visiting Mrs. Geo. Walker.

Mr. Charles Barker's little daughter is sick with pneumonia.

The Ladies' Temperance Union meet Sat. 5, with Mrs. L. P. Hatch.

Mr. Oscar Belknap injured his hand very badly while at work in the mill one day last week.

Mrs. Betsey Baker returned home with her daughter, Mrs. Geo. Hitchcock, to Quincy last week.

Mr. S. B. Chandler was obliged to stop his mill one day last week on account of scarcity of water.

Mrs. Maria Pratt and daughter of Brockton, have been visiting her father and mother this last week.

Mrs. Eliza Kent has a calla lily that has bloomed every year for the last thirty years and is still in a good healthy condition.

Miss E. M. Moody, who has been visiting at Mr. O. N. Belknap's, returned to her home in New Hampshire last week.

Miss Asa Walker visited an old schoolmate in another part of town, a few weeks ago, whom she had not seen for thirty years.

Mr. Agnes E. Williamson is very sick having been threatened with brain fever, but the timely aid of Dr. Stevens succeeded in abating it.

Mrs. Zenas Thomas, aged 83, died Feb. 20. The funeral services were held at her home Feb. 23, were attended by Rev. B. F. Jackson, his pastor.

Mr. George Dalby of No. Scituate, visited Marshfield last week and purchased quite a large quantity of turnips and apples of the farmers.

Miss Lucy Stevens who has been confined to the house since the first of November by ill health, was able to ride out last Saturday for the first time.

The Legislative committee, before whom a hearing was held last Thursday, have decided to visit Green Harbor and see for themselves what is needed at that place in the way of a road.

We were pleased to see the genealogical notice of the Little family in a recent paper. In what year did Ephraim Little move from Plymouth to Marshfield? Was Ephraim Little first pastor of Plymouth church or his son?

Four persons were admitted on profession of faith to the Congregational church, Rev. E. Alden pastor, last Sabbath. It is a remarkable coincidence that the attention of each one of these persons was called to the subject of religion, by the death of a near friend.

Mr. Chas. S. and Miss Grace W. Ames were very agreeably surprised by about seventy-five of their friends on night last week, who took their beautiful summer home by storm, and were received with a hearty welcome. With music, mirth, and song the evening tripped gaily away. Among the presents was a beautiful hanging lamp to lighten them on their way.

Mr. Albert Lewis read an original poem which was heartily received. The company here away the well wishes of Mr. and Miss Ames, and the memory of the evening's entertainment is looked as one of the best times in the winter.

EAST MARSHFIELD.

Mrs. Hiram Ford is quite ill.

Mrs. Harvey Hall has been lying at the point of death for the past few days. She is old and very heavy and it is difficult to recover from an accident under such unfavorable conditions.

Mr. Edwin Ford cut his foot while falling from a tree in the woods, and was confined to the house for about a month, and we are informed that the first day he was able to go into the woods again to fell trees, he again cut his foot. We think with friend Ford's experience that we should keep clear of the woods for the remainder of this season.

We regret to hear of Mr. Henry Tilden's sickness again. He has not been as far as the "Corners" (a distance of not more than 20 rods) since last July. At that time he suffered from an attack of the vertigo, and about six weeks ago, when nearly recovering from this attack, he was prostrated by the hemorrhage of the lungs, and has been confined to the bed ever since. Mr. Tilden has been an active and prominent citizen of the town, but for nine or ten years past he has been an almost constant sufferer, being sick most of the time, and for about five years of his life time has been confined to his bed.

When a young man was thought to be in consumption and went to St. Cecilia and recovered partly his health, but in conversation with him last week, he considers there is no place more favorable for a person having weak lungs than East Marshfield, and that instead of going away from the place, he should remain here expecting to find more rest and peace elsewhere. Our hills, he says, and the pines surrounding us are invigorating and healing to the lungs, and we may add also, that the sands washed up by the old ocean, which in centuries past undoubtedly flowed over the area our village now occupies, should prove more or less in some place of the country. Also the ocean, which shores low on our meadows, give us a warm and agreeable temperature, than

NORTH MARSHFIELD.

Feb. 22 the First Baptist church enjoyed an interesting sermon from their pastor, Rev. J. N. Studley, from the text, Deut. 6:12. "Then beware lest thou forget the Lord which brought thee forth out of the land of Egypt from the house of bondage." The introduction to his discourse was a comparison of the leadings of the Israelites with the leadings of our Pilgrim fathers.

His Subject, "We must be careful lest in our prosperity we forget Jehovah." He said, God has provided for us this goodly land. Our commercial advantages are numerous. We have fertile soil, our mineral productions rich and a source of wealth. We are behind no other nation in benevolent institutions. Asylums for the unfortunate are numerous. There is no state religion, this is a land of free speech and free institutions. The word of God is not bound here. The true loyal American does not tire of presenting the advantages and privileges obtained through our form of government. But notwithstanding all our prosperity and exalted privileges there are dangerous evils in the land, the principle of which are, forgetting the Sabbath and Sanctuaries, Socialism, Dynamism, Moralism, Intemperance with all its attendant evils. He urged his hearers in combating these evils, to keep their eyes open to the facts that come to them daily, to lift up their voices in contradiction to all wrong, to help arouse public sentiment against every form of evil and to aid in propagating the gospel in the destitute portions of our land, for the only effectual remedy for the evils is the gospel of the word of God.

The funeral of Mrs. Sarah E. Howland, wife of Mr. L. N. Howland, well known as manager of Randall's express was held from the M. E. Church on Thursday last, Rev. W. Wood of the M. E. Church assisted by Dr. Brooks of Hanover, officiating. Mrs. Howland was well known and respected by all. She leaves a husband and eight children who have the greatest sympathy for all.

The Social Union instead of meeting at their regular room on Saturday evening met at the house of Mr. Julius Cushman by an invitation. A very pleasant meeting was enjoyed by all, during the evening the President Mr. Wood gave an interesting account of his visit to some of the literary men of Boston such as Wendell Phillips, Whittier, Holmes, etc. There was a goodly entertainment of singing and reading. Mrs. W. Chandler and Miss Nellie Simmons were appointed committee on entertainment for the next month. It was considered the pleasantest meeting the Union has had this far.

Mrs. Annie Freeman is visiting friends in Boston and vicinity.

Mr. H. Burns will occupy the house owned by Mrs. Geo. Galloway. Mr. Frank Sears is able to be out again after his somewhat tedious illness.

Miss Laura Freeman has returned from Plymouth where she has been visiting her brother.

Mr. Baker, employed by the O. C. R. R., seems to be going into the poultry business. He is building quite an extensive henry.

SOUTH SCITUATE.

Mr. Fogg has his ice house full of first class ice.

The Ridge Hill correspondent forgot to mention that they did not have a Poor House up there.

One of the busiest spots in town just now is George McLaughlin's shop at Bryant's corner. His shop is running over full of hands, a large number working on hand sewed work.

Joseph Otis met with a serious accident recently while on a load of hay the horse started and he fell to the ground, injuring his shoulder severely. Drs. Brownell and French are attending the case.

Eddie Jones, son of Waldo Jones, met with a painful accident while, coasting, in trying to pass under a rail the fore finger of his left hand was caught in a trap which he has lost the same. F. M. Curtis was passing when the accident occurred and carried him to one of the neighboring houses.

On Friday evening, Feb. 20th, at the residence of Rev. L. B. Hatch, Arthur N. Gardner of South Abington was united in marriage to Miss Mary E. Cowing of South Scituate. The worthy couple were the recipients of presents, useful and ornamental, among them a silver butter dish and a silver jar from his colleagues in the town. Mr. and Mrs. Gardner are housekeeping on Beach street.

We extend our congratulations, and wish them many years of continued happiness and prosperity. Mr. G. was very pleasantly remembered, this morning, 27th inst., by the receipt of a large and handsome steel engraving, "Pharaoh's Horses," from the "Three F. Co." of Abington, of which society he was formerly the fourth member. So. Abington Times.

SOUTH SCITUATE, Mar. 2, 1885.

Mr. Ed. Edgington, Mar. 2, 1885.

We learn that you wished to note an unusually large mail which we took to the Post Office a few days ago, and therefore state the following facts in regard to it.

The number of letters was 1,102. The day before, we mailed about 112 or 113. We have several hundred envelopes now waiting to be mailed, and we are sending them out as fast as we can.

Every one of them were sent in answer to a request for them, and all these requests came to us from our advertisements in one publication, or rather, the publication of one man, Mr. H. S. Stoddard, Hartford, Conn., editor of the "Poetry World," "Am. Poetry Year" and "Poetry Post."

We expect to be unable to fill our orders for the next few days, and we are sending them out as fast as we can.

Our advertisements have not even commenced yet, we expect to receive at least 3,000 if not 4,000 requests for our circulars. We are quite large contributors to the columns of the "Poetry World" which probably has as much to do with our success as our advertisements have, but it is none the less a judicious use of "printer's ink."

Yours very truly,

W. H. RUDY & SONS.

HANOVER.

Miss Jessie Essex was in town last week.

Mr. Benjamin Barker died on Thursday morning.

Mrs. Charles Barker has gone to Merrimack to visit her sister.

Mrs. Calvin Estes has been spending a few days with Mrs. Percival.

Rev. Mr. Langworthy from Boston occupied the pulpit in the Orthodox church last Sabbath.

Complaints of an epidemic among pigs in this section. Mr. Virgil Foster having lost one.

The sociable at Mrs. Aurelian Whiting's passed pleasantly. The sales amounted to quite a snug sum.

The coach running to Rev. Mr. Benedict's church is well timed, every Sabbath. Last Sabbath there were twenty-six persons inside and several on the outside of the coach.

The entertainment given before the Lyceum, Tuesday evening, was very enjoyable. The program consisted of recitations, singing, etc. It was pleasing as well as instructive.

HANOVER.

Mrs. Henry Sewell Bates is quite ill.

Influenza still prevailing in this town.

Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Dwellley are in Reading.

Mrs. John P. Ellis is staying with friends in New Bedford.

The mild weather of the last few days is suggestive of spring.

Mr. Frank Ellis fell last week, injuring his side so severely that he is obliged to call a physician. He is unable to leave the house.

ISLAND CREEK.

Mr. Ois C. Mr. Ois C. Bradford of this place who is a skilled mechanic, and also noted for his original ideas in designing and constructing houses, gates, and articles of furniture, is making quite a number of beautiful and rare design and workmanship. Mr. Bradford commenced his work under somewhat difficult circumstances, not having the necessary means on hand (which is his eye made) with his accustomed energy and perseverance, procured a team on one of the coldest days of the winter, and he was obliged to call a physician. He is unable to leave the house.
